Introduction

The new summer 2008 editions of Casino City's Gaming Business Directory, Gaming Business Directory CD, and GamingDirectory.com online service have all been completely revised. Since publication of the last edition we have reviewed and updated every section of the directory. The result is print and CD editions of the summer directory that include thousands of changes in gaming industry property and owner contacts alone.

As the volume of information we gather has grown, we have continued to differentiate the print, CD, and online versions of our directories. This edition includes gaming facilities indexed by both size and property type. In addition, horse and dog tracks from additional countries have been added to the directory and they have been included in the gaming property sections along with casinos and other gaming facilities. Icons have been used to differentiate Native American I, under construction T, and track ⚡ gaming facilities.

The creation of the new summer 2008 editions of Casino City's Gaming Business Directory, Gaming Business Directory CD, and GamingDirectory.com online service, and all of the underlying databases and processes, was a massive effort involving many disciplines by a team of very dedicated people. I'm proud of the effort put forth by every employee of Casino City Press.

Steve Bloom, our Chief Product and Information Architect, managed the development of this new publication focusing on the software engineering effort required to create the Gaming Business Directory and CD. Included were enhancements to our database design, data-entry applications, and data extract procedures. His group was also responsible for the design and layout of the book and CD. Steve's dedication, and the dedication of those working with him, was instrumental to the success of the project. This product would not exist without their strong contributions. Software engineers and engineering support team members include Alan Yabroudy, Andrew Baizen, Bill Tyler, Howard Mulcahy, Ian Asaff, Joe Ozug, Kyle Waz, Robert Encarnaçao, and Sue Ellen Beers.

Emily Hunt, our Senior Content Manager, managed the content team, which was responsible for all data collection and update efforts. Simply stated, the new edition of the directory and CD would not exist without the dedication of the entire content team. Jessica Simons was a major contributor, primarily responsible for book production issues. Other content development team members include Alex Sherman-Ash, Anakana Schofield, Camille Tilton, Carol Heller, Christine Sullivan, Daniel Mongeon, Gary Trask, Jen Lam, Joshua Torres, Kelley Johnson, Kim DeForest, Nancy Troy, Paul Mogilevsky, Steven Corfman, Tom Yee, and Vin Narayanan.

Andrea Mullaney, our Director of Marketing, has overall responsibility for ensuring the gaming industry knows about and understands the value of our products. Together with Bill Riley, Cara Waz, and George Choi she is responsible for all publicity and promotion including trade show planning, product brochures, direct mail and e-mail campaigns, press releases and advertising, and our web storefront. George Choi created the almanac and CD cover artwork incorporating a photograph of the MGM Grand Detroit Hotel and Casino.

Our sales team is responsible for ensuring we generate the revenue necessary to make the Gaming Business Directory product successful. Adam Newman, Eric Almquist, Marcy Grand, and Rebecca Liggero are responsible for all product sales efforts.

Sylvia Corfman and Bill Gagné, together with Caroline Shaool, Fred Braley, Kimberly Koenig, and Reta Rampino, made sure all the financial and purchasing arrangements were in place to create a new edition of the directory. Lisa Pasquarosa, with assistance from Kathy Egersheim, managed the customer service and fulfillment tasks associated with directory and CD orders.

Finally, I'd like to thank you, our customer. It is your words of encouragement and appreciation, your suggestions, and your overwhelming acceptance of our products that make this effort both worthwhile and possible.
